

I'm Not Sayin' It Was Aliens (But It Was Aliens)

You got hair rising high, you got a spray-on tan
Twinkle in your eye, like a droll orangutan
I like goofy stories and I like goofy grins
Like you all have a secret and want to let us in

I must admit we're living in 'Legendary Times'
I know where you're going, I can read between the lines
Your daddy was a Greek, you mom, Episcopalian
You ain't saying it was aliens, but it was aliens

I'm devoted to the channel, I'm on the mailing list
I wish my profession was Ufologist
They say Roswell's kind of quirky
Make a left at Albuquerque

I know a guy named Luther, says he's from the future
He runs a Mr. Submarine and rides a motor scooter.
He made me a BLT, and an X-ray of his cranium
He said, "I'm not sayin' it was aliens - but it was aliens..."

King Arthur and his knights were ancient astronauts.
The Nazca Lines in old Peru, a cosmic parking lot
I hope the UFOs can land and sort us out
We are as conscious as a plate of sauerkraut

You got hair rising high, you got a spray-on tan
Twinkle in your eye, like a droll orangutan
Your daddy was a Greek, you mom, Episcopalian
You ain't saying it was aliens, but it was aliens
FINE

Background

With a tip of the hat to the History Channel series, 'Ancient Aliens'.
